After all, sustainability means running the global environment-Earth Inc.-like a corporation: with depreciation, amortization and maintenance accounts. In other words, keeping the asset whole, rather than undermining your natural capital. – Maurice Strong

Maurice Frederick Strong (29 April 1929 – 27 November 2015) was a Canadian oil and mineral businessman and a diplomat who served as Under-Secretary-General of the United Nations. Strong was the President of Power Corporation of Canada until 1966. In the early 1970s he was Secretary General of the U.N. Conference on the Human Environment, and then became the first executive director of the U.N. Environment Programme. He headed Ontario Hydro, one of North America's largest power utilities. He served as a commissioner of the World Commission on Environment and Development in 1986 and was recognised by the International Union for Conservation of Nature as a leader in the international environmental movement. Strong was an active Honorary Professor at Peking University and honorary chairman of its Environmental Foundation. He was chairman of the advisory board for the Institute for Research on Security and Sustainability for Northeast Asia. He died at the age of 86 in 2015.
